

This height profile represents the minimum recommended clearances between Denali NET and any conductor, including a heatsink or chassis: at least 1 mm all under its bottom surface, yet squeezing to an absolute minimum of 0.5 mm (represented by the contour below) under the FETs area to maximize heat transfer.

